

TOPCOAT Testimonial 2/25/13

Partial hoof resection on $400,000 Olympic Jumper "Beckham" with white line disease.

Photo taken on May 10, 2012 of hoof of former $400,000 Olympic Jumper, "Beckham", diagnosed with a terrible case of white line disease.

Photo of Beckham's resected hoof taken on February 23, 2013

Says Jerry Harper, "My beloved Hanoverian, a former Olympic Jumper, went lame last summer and I went through 3 vets and 2 farriers, before the 3rd farrier reported that the cause was advanced White Line Disease. I was horrified to think that I had spent so much money and heartache, only to find that he had something that could have been easily treated, had my farriers or vets recognized white line disease and diagnosed it. After it's discovery, my NEW-- good-- farrier did a hoof resection so that the diseased part would be removed. I started using TOPCOAT to moisturize and gently disinfect-- it was the only product I used over a 7 month's period of time... you can see the results. I highly recommend TOPCOAT. I love how it can be used over the entire hoof to both condition, moisturize and gently sanitize the hoof. You will love it too"

Jerry Harper

